

Figure 1 displays a scatter plot of 1000 simulated data points. The points are colored black and red, representing two different groups. The plot is divided into three distinct clusters: a large central cluster, a smaller cluster on the left, and a small cluster on the right. The axes are labeled 'x' and 'y'.

times